REFLECTION

What does God want most? Jesus' statement of the twin commandment to love God and neighbour seems so commonplace. Yet the linking of these two commands of the Old Testament, to love God wholeheartedly and our neighbour as ourselves, was new. They still demand so much that we will never fulfill them perfectly. This teaching is placed near the end of Jesus' ministry; soon he will live out his wholehearted love on the cross. The scribe who questioned Jesus had recognized someone close to God, and he repeats Jesus' answer to meditate on it. Jesus invites him to accept God's rule over his life. The scribe realizes that ritual worship, essential as it is, is worthless without love. The letter to the Hebrews explains that Christ has been consecrated our perfect high priest and savior eternally because of his loving offering of himself made once and for all. Every Mass makes us present to Jesus' unique sacrifice and draws us into his perfect priestly offering of praise and love of God.

A THOUGHT TO PONDER

"Every child, every person needs to know that they are a source of joy; every child, every person, needs to be celebrated. Only when all of our weaknesses are accepted as part of our humanity can our negative, broken self-images be transformed."

Historical talk by Sub-deacon Shawn Goldman

Bishop Sheptytsky is considered one of the most influential Ukrainian religious figures of the first half of the 20th century. During the SHOAH (the Holocaust) as head of the Ukrainian Catholic Church, he risked his life along with the lives of hundreds of members of the clergy to save hundreds of Jewish lives in his residence and monasteries. He also issued the pastoral letter, "Thou Shalt Not Kill" to protest atrocities during this time. Sub-deacon Shawn Goldman will tell this brave story, which is held by the Fellowship of St. Joseph of the Association for Hebrew Catholics.
