REFLECTION

In today's Gospel, Jesus teaches us about the importance of praying continually and not losing heart. At times, when we see no apparent results, it can be tempting to give in to discouragement. Yet faith reminds us that God is always at work, even when His answers differ from our hopes.

One writer recalls praying with her father, who always offered a prayer of thanksgiving—whether or not his requests were granted. When asked why, he replied, "Because, dear, I'll get something better."

During the trials of the Middle Ages, Julian of Norwich declared, "All shall be well, and all manner of things shall be well." Her trust continues to inspire us today.

In the parable of the persistent widow, even an unjust judge gives in to perseverance. How much more will our loving God respond to those who pray with steadfast faith and hope.

Let us never lose heart in prayer.

Did you know that?

- ☞ When arranging the funeral Mass for a loved one that you also indicate to the priest whether the burial will be the same day or not?
- ☞ Members of the family that are assigned to read from the Bible during the funeral Mass must arrive half an hour before the Mass?
- ☞ When assigned to read at a funeral Mass, you only do the Bible reading without adding at the beginning or the end anything like: "Hi", "Good day", "Thanks for coming", etc?
